Mrs. Harkness Laid To Rest

Mrs. Janet Harkness, a well known resident of the Auburndale district, passed to her reward Sunday morning at 3:45 a.m. in the Wainwright Hospital. Mrs. Harkness had been in good health prior to the time she entered the hospital, which was just eight days before her death.

Mrs. Harkness was born in Scotland the year 1871, she would have been 78 years old on her next birthday, Dec. 19.

The deceased was married and widowed twice before she left Scotland. Of her first marriage to Daniel MacGowan there were three children, David deceased, Bill in Scotland and Robert of the Auburndale district. Her first husband predeceased her in 1906. Students' Union Organized For Fall

On Tuesday Sept. 20th, about 105 local High School students cast their ballots for their favorite candidates for offices in the Students' Union. As usual, it was a spirited affair, and elections were closely contested.

For President of the Union three appeared on the ballot. Jean Nicholson was eliminated. Frank Daugherty beat ed Genevieve Meyer, 58 to 45 on the second count.

Frances Foster was elected as Vice-President over Phyllis Bovencamp and Patsy Harden had a bit more than an edge on Joyce Bartlett for Secretary.

The contest for Treasurer was almost a dead heat. After Stella Lindberg was eliminated and her second choices counted, Colin Carter edged out Ruth Wallace, 50 to 48.

Subsequently the students named room representatives and athletic representatives to the Executive. The room representatives are as follows:

Grade IX—Mona Cameron
Grade X—Bill Sporniks
Grade XI—Keith Firkus
Grade XII—Audrey Symes

Charles Wakefield and Marian Valleau were elected to represent the Athletic Association on the Executive.

The High School students look forward to an active year. Their numbers are increased to 115—well over the attendance of 95 last year. It is the largest crowd to ever jostle one another in the restricted space in the High School. A record 39 have come into grade IX.

The students look forward to the completion of the new school because of the badly congested conditions in the present High School buildings. When classes change the corridors resemble the circus midway on Saturday night. They do not relish moving into the old brick building; but at least many of their problems will be solved. The gymnasium-auditorium will be greatly appreciated.

Home And School Hear Address On Hot Lunches

Last Wednesday evening the first meeting of the Home and School Assn. for the fall season got away to a good start when Miss Joyce Lewis, Nutrition Specialist of the Department of Agriculture spoke to a large crowd on "School Lunches and General Nutrition."

Our president Mrs. K. Tory brought the meeting to order and called upon Miss Sheila Forest, District Home Economist, who formerly introduced Miss Lewis.

Miss Lewis graphically illustrated the amount and variety of food required in their daily diet by a man, a woman, an adolescent boy and girl and a child of from 7 to 12 years. She then proceeded to show that the child who had a very good breakfast and evening meal would lack essential elements in his diet necessary to supply him with the required energy, materials for muscles and body tissues, and to build new tissues and develop the bones and teeth IF he lacked an adequate noon lunch.

No doubt many a parent who believed their child was receiving a good diet were amazed at how many essential foods that diet lacked. It was also added that no mention was made of the necessity of deserts or confections and as any homemaker knows these can greatly add up in dollar and cents value.

Children have many visible signs of good nutrition which Miss Lewis listed. Some of which are—well developed bodies which show a steady increase in weight and height, well developed firm muscles, clear skin and eyes and soft glossy hair and a good posture as well as many others.

A good school lunch program said Miss Lewis was the concern of and demanded the co-operation of not only the teachers, parents and children but of all members of the community. In order to have a well rounded program school work might be correlated with it thus keeping the parents acquainted with the school lunch menu so that they might plan their meals to maintain well balanced diets. She said too it would require fullest co-operation of all concerned to provide a noon lunch of highest nutritive value at a minimum cost and under the most sanitary conditions.

The value of such a school lunch program cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents but in the advantages of better social and food habits and health practices and thus in better mental and physical development. On the financial side of the ledger this leads to better school attendance which raises government grants and lowers our own taxes.

The reaction of the meeting to the Hot Lunch Program, after hearing of its many aspects from Miss Lewis and after having a question period, seemed very favorable to the setting up of such a program in the Wainwright Public School. In order to make a start a committee was formed. The following people were named to serve on it: Mr. L. B. Adams, Miss L. Tweedy, Mrs. F. E. McLeod, Miss S. Forrest, Mrs. K. Fenby, Mr. A. Kett, Mrs. S. Bath, Mrs. R. Hissett, Mrs. E. Erickson Mr. R. Reid, Mrs. C. Alexander, Mrs. W. Taylor, Mrs. K. Tory, Mrs. N. G. Valleau.

While there was a very good representation of the parents most closely concerned at the meeting there are still many who have not yet expressed their opinion or desire in this matter. The committee will be meeting with in a week or so and would appreciate it if all these parents would try to contact some one of them and discuss the matter with them. This extremely necessary and worthwhile program can and will be a success if we have your co-operation. "Parents" it is your children and their welfare, so let us hear from you.

Local School Board Holds Regular Monthly Meet

The Wainwright Town School Board met in the teachers room at the Public School on Sept. 21 at 7:30 p.m., with Mrs. F. E. McLeod, Mr. L. D'Albertanson, Mr. J. Morgan and Mr. W. E. Riome present.

Minutes of the meeting held August 21 were read and adopted on a motion by J. A. Morgan.

Mr. Morgan then gave a report on the meeting of the school trustees with the town council, at the last council meeting. At this meeting the board requested some sort of immediate action regarding the road signs for the school area. The signs had been on order for several months, but at this time had not yet arrived. The Board, then asked and received permission from the council to make temporary signs in the school shop if the others did not arrive in a reasonably short time. The Board also asked that more steps be taken on apprehending speeding cars on both Main and 6th Avenue. As it was felt that with the increased activity around the town the lives of the children were the more endangered.

The secretary then reported that a message from the Town Secretary had advised that the new road signs had arrived. The secretary was nominated to follow this up in order to get the signs erected as soon as possible.

Mrs. McLeod reported that due to the meeting of the Home and School Society, being held on the same evening as our own, no delegation could be present from that Society for the discussion of hot lunches for the pupils

Mr. Yaskey the High School principal then gave his report in which he stated that the population of the High School had increased by 20 pupils over last years total of 95. The need for more seats is very urgent. Mrs. McLeod is going to take this up with the Divisional Board to see that something is done along this line. The principal is going to educate the students to be more mindful of the safety regulations in order to help prevent accidents.

Mr. Adams, the Public School principal reported on the Public School. The school enrollment is 242; with grade two being particularly heavy, having an enrolment of 45 pupils. Lunch hour supervision is being looked after each day by one of the teachers. There are the pupils are being coached in observing safety regulations. Mr. Adams requested that there is a shortage of seats in the public school too, and Mrs. McLeod is also looking after this at the Divisional meeting. There was also a request for repairs to the drinking fountains.

On a motion by L. D'Albertanson, the secretary was instructed to write to the council suggesting wider grading on Main street north of 6th Avenue and King Street, in order to relieve the congestion near the schools when the pupils are dismissed. This it is hoped will prevent pupils from riding and walking in the middle of the road.

Agenda Light At Town Councils' Monthly Meet

Grace United Church Mid-Week Services

For the past two seasons Grace United Church has held successful midweek services from the beginning of October to Easter, on Wednesday evenings at 8 p.m. prompt in the Church.

These are meetings for prayer, worship in cheery well known hymns, Christian fellowship, and a meditation on some phase of the Word of God.

In order to maintain continuity in the studies, and the possibility which an extended course gives of a good groundwork of information we have used one general theme throughout approximately thirty five studies.

This year the general theme will be "Foundations of Christianity, and of the Christian Church." The world seems to be resolving itself largely into two camps, nonreligious and religious. If we believe in religion at all, let us try and see how religion came to be; something of the nature and meaning of many religions, dead and living, in the world; the beginnings and progress of the Christian Church, and the meaning of Christianity and Church for our lives today.

Each study will be connected with present day life, and will be applicable to people of any denomination, for "Church" literally means "A body of believers in Jesus Christ," the New Testament "Ecclesia". Discussion arising from each study will be welcomed.

Introduction to this series of midweek meetings will be given in Grace United Church, in the sermon study of next Sunday morning, October 2nd, at 11 a.m. followed by the first of the midweek meetings on Wednesday, Oct. 5th, at 8 p.m. with the subject "Animism,—the Religion of Primitive Man"

Through the courtesy of our local newspaper, the "Star-Chronicle", we are enabled to extend a cordial invitation and welcome to all who would be interested in a study of religious and Christian faith as they affect our lives today. Come as often as you can, —each Wednesday, at 8 p.m., beginning October 5th, 1949.

ANNOUNCEMENT

A shower and dance for Mr. and Mrs. David (nee Hazel Barnett) will be held in Greenshields Hall on Oct. 7th. Harley's orchestra. Everybody welcome. (56p)

On motion of Councillor Mitchell, that Mrs. Mary A. Lally be appointed Enumerator of the Town of Wainwright for the year 1949, at the same remuneration as paid in previous year and that if satisfactory arrangements can be made that a Census of the whole Town be taken at the time of enumeration.

On motion Council was regularly adjourned.

Army Notes

It looks as if this year will be quite interesting for the Reserve Army chaps in Wainwright Area.

The Fall programme for 18th Infantry Brigade Ordnance Field Park R.C.O.C. is to start with a bang on Wednesday October 5th at 8:00 p.m. Special recreational and travel colour films are being secured and Capt. W. R. G. Morrison is also planning a discussion group to chat about this year's training plans.

Personnel of the unit and their friends who have not got transportation to "The Armouries" (building 49) in the Camp are going to be picked up at the Wainwright Hotel about 7:45 p.m.

Quite a large crowd is expected, since every member of the unit is permitted to bring one or more friends with him for the opening night.

LEGION NOTES

The Wainwright Memorial Clock Tower, a memorial of two World Wars is twenty four years old this month. It survived the great fire of '29 and is famous as the most beautiful memorial in Alberta. Pictures of it have appeared in many publications and it has been mentioned by famous speakers.

We who live in Wainwright are used to the vagaries of the four clock faces, but it must come as a shock to visitors when they find four different times registered. On Saturday last they showed: North face—3:05; East face—1:30; South face—3:10; and West face—1:45. Surely something can be done. Perhaps something is being done of which we are ignorant, but it would look far better if each face showed 11:00 and stood as a further memorial to a famous hour.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my thanks to the doctors of the clinic, the nurses and staff at the Wainwright Hospital, also the Ladies Auxiliary and to my many friends who were so good to me during my recent stay in the hospital.

Wainwright : : : Alberta

THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME!

Seems to us we wrote an editorial on the same subject about two years ago when we made a trip to Bassano previously. However, we had only about half our present readers at that time, and the subject is one that can really bear repetition anyway. So here goes:

The old story about "far pastures looking greener," certainly has it's basis in truth, and for us folks who have lived in this district for perhaps the greater part of our lives, far pastures often take on a pretty "green," we nearly said "rosy" hue. In deed, we do have our difficulties. We haven't any too much moisture at times, frost and hail take their little digs at us, and we're subject to many of the difficulties which naturally assail any farming community—but . . . there are those who are much worse off. Saturday afternoon we took off in our trusty 'Chev' and travelled over prairie roads the 230 odd miles between here and the southern town, and what we saw all along the road made us happy to be home again.

You hardly get out of sight of Wainwright before you hit the sar l, which carries on for quite a few miles as you nip off the end of the Buffalo Park on your way to Czar. North of Czar things don't look too bad, but when you cross the C.P.R. the bottom begins to drop out rapidly. Formhauses become much more widely separated, and tilled fields cover less and less of the area. What crops there are are pretty grim and the ration between weeds and grain becomes less favorable.

The Neutral Hills consist, as we all know, largely of range land—and the song which informs us that "never is said a discouraging word" on the range, sharply loses its meaning and the aspect becomes less and less enticing. In fact, in some of the range land we saw on the trip it should have been made a serious offence to say discouraging words, because there was already so much to discourage.

Consort found it getting a little tough for even the most daring poplars, and from there to Coronation there was little that was new. Then south again. Inquiries here and there indicated that crops had been a complete or near failure. A nicely-stocked store at Spondin, reached after seventeen or eighteen miles of wildness travel, was run by a young looking man between forty and forty five. "No," he said, "there was no crop here this year." We pressed further: "Crops used to be good here in times past?" "I've only been here twenty years so I can't say." was his response. Then he added: "A few more people moved out of here in the last couple of years, and a few have moved in. We're just waiting and hoping for the Dominion Government irrigation plan to get under way. "When asked how they made their living he said: "The cattle keep us going."

Thence to Hanna and more miles of barrenness. Much of the land both north and south of Hanna showed signs of having been cultivated and allowed to go back. Fences were largely in good condition indicating that practically all was used as pasture. Nearer Hanna we came across quite a few fairly good farms, but the other side of the road showed the soil to be badly pitted and eroded, adding greatly to the problems of anyone who should attempt cultivation.

From Hanna south again to Finnegan's ferry we were entertained to a repetition of our previous vista of deserted and vacant land, but more of it.Here and there a painted and inhabited farm building, but mostly miles and miles of land that had been farmed and gone back to medium quality pasture. Here and there a school which was still used, here and there the decaying relics of a building which used to resound to the shouts and laughter of children, now hollow and bereft of windows, unpainted and falling apart . . memorials to a better day, a day of hope, a day of sweat, perhaps of tears, perhaps sometimes of more. But the lean years squeezed and squeezed until the hopeful pioneers were forced to trek farther north, with years added to their lives but nothing added to their material prosperity.

Then increasing barrenness. We called at the store at Finnegan, operated by a Mr. and Mrs. Stewart. "Must be a little lonely here?" we inquired. With a little flash of indignation. Mrs. Stewart replied: "That's what a lot of visitors seem to think—we don't find it so."

Then more of the same, or perhaps worse, until we strike the irrigation area.

Irrigation can and yet will make this strip of country flourish . . but at what cost. The C.P.R. found that their Bassano dam and the irrigation system now operated by the E.I.D. a financial failure, and turned the whole project, on which they had spent millions of dollars, over to the farmers for $1. The Dominion government has plans all laid out for an extensive irrigation project for the northern area, but is holding the whole proceedings up until there's another depression. In the mean time the people in that inhospitable land will hang on and hope.

So, we're glad to be home. There may be better places, but there are most assuredly many that are worse.

MORE ABOUT BANG'S DISEASE

This week we deal with Bang's disease from its human angle "Undulant Fever." Dr. J. D. Wallace kindly consented to give us an outline of the situation as it affects humans, and this will be found on this page. We urge all to read, mark and inwardly digest. Not that we wish to create a situation in which our readers jump at shadows, but rather that we feel that this situations is of sufficient seriousness that it should be faced in a decisive and intelligent fashion.

Bang's Disease In Humans

Since this has become a definite Bang's Disease area during the past few years almost everyone has a good general idea regarding the effects of this condition on cattle. Good work in publicising this phase of the disease has been done by man organizations and individuals in this area and most farmers are now on the look-out for the disease.

Unfortunately the human side of the disease has not been covered nearly as completely and is not mentioned as frequently as the animal side, and this very general article is written with a view to clarifying the situation in this regard. Too little knwoledge on any subject is a dangerous thing because some people ignore it completely while others build what little knowledge they do have into a terrifying picture which keeps them unduly worried about the disease.

While Undulant Fever, as the human form is called, has been known in the older countries for many years it has only been detected clinically in Western Canada in the last few years. It was undoubtedly present before but was not suspected and was therefore not diagnosed, for it is only by being suspicious of this disease that it can ever be found.

Facts presented in this paper are derived from a book by Dr. H. T. Hyman who has brought together the work of many men to give a true picture of the disease. After receiving these papers he reaches the conclusion that his disease is probably the cause of a great deal of chronic poor health in this country and is being missed mainly because it is not suspected and because diagnosis is very difficult in most cases.

The disease is contacted from handling infected animals or using the raw products of infected animals. It is liable to be found therefore, in farmers, veterinarians, dairymen, butchers, meat packers and all who drink raw or unpasteurized milk. The symptoms are so varied and so unpredictable that no definite picture of them may be given to you. In the acute phase it may resemble any one of many acute fevers depending only on which part of the body is infected. It is important to remember that such fevers are usually preceded by an incubation period lasting from a few days to a month during which time the patient usually thinks he has 'flu—weakness, fatigue, chilliness, lack of appetite, headache, generalized aches and pains, etc. After the acute phase is over the patient relapses into a period of chronic ill health with weakness, exhaustion, recurrent unexplained fever and recurrent attacks of influenza. A lot of people who are accused of malingering probably have this disease.

Diagnosis is difficult and depends on alertness in suspecting the disease and then on tests of the blood and skin sensativity tests for signs of the disease. It is interesting to note that while the disease is characterized by aborting in cattle there appears to be no tendancy toward this in women suffering from the disease.

Until recently treatment was not satisfactory. It depended on increasing body resistance to the disease by injecting serum into the body over a considerable period of time. This was uncertain and relapses were frequent. Now new members of the antibiotic family of mould products known as Aureomycin and Chloromycetin have been found to cause improvement in their patients. It is still too early to predict the outcome of this over a period of years but we feel that we are at last on the right track.

In the present stage of our knowledge of this disease it would appear that prevention is far better than cure. Anyone handling raw animal products or drinking raw milk should be extremely careful. Herds should be tested and segregated and steps taken to make this a Bang's Free Area. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the use of raw dairy products in an area when Bang's Disease is prevalent is an extermely hasardous practise and the use of pasteurized milk as a protective measure is one of our strongest defense plans.

ADEQUATE NUTRITION IMPORTANT

Without overlooking the fact that a lot of husky old-timers developed their stamina on a very limited diet, we feel that greater attention to diet will pay handsome dividends in the health of our children and the coming generation.

This was the burden of a talk given to the local Home and School Association last Wednesday when Miss Joyce Lewis, head nutritionist of the Extension Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture with the assistance of Miss Sheila M. Forrest, district home economist, of Ryley.

With charts, Miss Lewis pointed out the importance of proper diet in maintaining all the elements necessary to health. She stressed strongly the value of hot lunches at school for those children who were unable to go home at noon. At this meeting committees were appointed to look further into the matter of providing hot lunches at Wainwright school for the bussed-in children as soon as facilities are available. We urge that all those who have children coming to town join with the Home and School Association in putting this plan across.

There is no question that the health of your children will be favorably affected.

Joe Rutledge Says

By Joseph Lister Rutledge

THE PIONEER SPEAKS

One sometimes wonders what would be the thoughts of those pioneers, on whose efforts rests the Canada of today, if they could return to watch and listen? What would they think, those men of France who dared so greatly, or those loyalists who thought their world well lost for loyalty? What would they think, those pioneers in a primitive land, who asked nothing but an even break, or those men who took the first uncertain steps in industry, or who widened our frontiers and presented us our rewards of lands and minerals and freedom?

In their time, they thought—these men and women—that the chance was worth the taking because the reward for those who would work a little harder or a little better than his fellows was sure. No one of all these people would have thought of denying to the more devoted worker his right to a larger reward. It was from this competitive spirit that our nation was born, and by this spirit it flourished. It took men from behind the plow or the work-bench or the counter and placed them in seats of responsibility. That was our glory, that part of the reward for superior effort was a larger responsibility and obligation.

It is strange that with such clear examples and such obvious results before us, from every walk of life and every family history, that certain individuals and groups still have been blind to all the evidence. They have tried to make it appear that there was something wrong in the thinking of these pioneers, something discreditable in the belief that the best effort was a title to the largest reward. Instead of the effort and daring and wide incentive that made this country great, they would offer us security and equality. They would have us beg for equal shares of the efforts of all so that he who dared greatly, who lay awake nights dreaming of new endeavor and was ready to suffer and endure for them, should be entitled to no more for himself or his family than he who laxed in the sun and thought only of how little effort would assure his accustomed reward.

What would these pioneers have thought? Perhaps if they looked back to today they might think this: "As one day we must all die, let us die for the virtues and determinations that are in us, not for our lacks or our deficiencies. Let us put into life the best we have and take our individual chance that it will bring a just reward. But let us not be mendicants of life begging for benefits we have not even wished to earn."

WORLD of WHEAT

DEVALUATION OF CURRENCIES

Great Britain has devalued her pound sterling from 4.03 American dollars to 2.80 American dollars to the pound. Canada in turn has devalued her dollar from 100 American cents to 90.9 American cents to the Canadian dollar. This means that British goods can be sold in the United States at 30.5 per cent less than previous prices, and can be sold in Canada now for 23.6 per cent less. On the other hand it means that everything Britain buys from the United States will cost her 43.9 per cent in British pounds more than at present, and 30.3 per cent more for Canadian goods than at present, which will tend later to increase the cost of living in Britain and so the manufacturing costs of her export goods Britain obviously must sell a much greater volume of goods in both Canada and the United States to obtain the same quality of American and Canadian dollars as she has been receiving. It is doubtful, to my mind at least, whether all this in the long run will help Britain to solve her real problem of producing more goods for export and at competitive prices.

British emigrants to Canada who have not been permitted by Britain to bring over all their savings will lose 23.6 per cent on all the money they still have in Britain. The British Government, I feel, ought to make some compensation to these Canadian settlers.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

The canadian Bureau of Statistics now estimates the Canadian total wheat crop at 371,600,000 bushels, a considerable drop over previous estimates, and a drop of over 20,000,000 bushels from last year's crop. Production of wheat on the prairies is estimated at 342,000,000 bushels, compared with last year's crop of 363,060,000 bushels. The prairie oat production is estimated at 198,000,000 bushels, considerably below last year's crop of 224,000,000 bushels. Barley production on the prairies is now placed at 114,000,000 bushels, compared with the 1948 crop of 142,000,000 bushels.

The United States winter wheat acreage for the crop now being seeded is set at 48.9 million acres, a 17 per cent decrease from last year's acreage of 81.6 million acres.

FOOT COMFORT

Good shoes and proper care of the feet are most important for health and comfort. Feet should be washed or given a brisk rub in cold water daily. Socks should be washed frequently to keep them soft. A change of socks after work is refreshing, and a change of both shoes and socks is imperative if the feet are wet.

BACON KEEPS LONGER IF HOGS FED SUGAR

Bacon made from tired hogs does not keep as well as bacon from rested hogs. But the remedy is not more rest but more sugar.

That may sound a little unusual, but food biologists in England report definite findings that bacon made from hogs that were fatigued at the time of killing developed brown colour on the cut surface. This was the result of fatigue and the attending loss of muscle sugar and has brought complaints on the British market.

The researchers have concluded that while resting the hogs is definitely a solution, it is not nearly as rapid as feeding sugar to hogs eight to 12 hours before slaughtering.

Comment and Notes of Current Interest to Farmers • Compiled by J. S. Robblee and F. W. Maddex

SCHOOL LUNCH IS A VITAL PROBLEM

One of the most important items of the fall school opening, and one of the countless worries it brings to the home maker, is the preparation of school lunches. Not only do the lunch-toters demand variety, but they must also have nutritious food.

The Consumers Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture suggests each school lunch contain milk; some meat, fish, eggs, dried beans or peanut butter; a vegetable or fruit, or both; breads, fats or sweets to round it out.

If the school child cannot buy milk at school or where lunch is eaten, include it as milk, soup or cocoa in a thermos. The home economists of the Department suggest milk in puddings can be taken along in small mayonnaise jars or waxed paper containers, but be sure the lid is on tight!

To handle the demand for variety, produce odd designs in sandwiches—cut them with cookie cutters or like jigsaw puzzles. Try a new filler once in a while.

WITH THE DISTRICT AGRICULTURIST

By J. S. ROBBLEE

CREEPING RED FESCUE FOR TURF AND PASTURE

Creeping Red Fescue is a long-lived perennial grass native to many parts of Canada. It is a fine leaved species which excells most other grasses in shade tolerance and in durability or persistance under conditions of excessive wear. For this reason it is highly regarded for use in turf grass mixtures on playgrounds, parks, airdromes and other areas where the turf is in constant use. It is also especially valuable when used as a bottom grass in pasture mixtures.

Because of the common name "Creeping Red Fescue", persons who are not acquainted with the species, are at once reminded of couch grass or other common creeping rooted species that are difficult to eradicate. Growers need have no fears of similar difficulties with this species. In fact, while underground stems or rhizomes are produced they are so short and grow so slowly that on casual observation it is difficult to distinguish from a bunch grass. Eradication of this grass presents no problems.

This grass is well suited for a bottom grass in hay and pasture mixtures and could well be used in this area for that purpose.

TREES FOR SHELTERBELTS AND FARM PLANTINGS

Farmers wishing to obtain trees for use on their farms should order now for next years plantings. The Dominion Forestry Station at Indian Head, Saskatchewan will supply trees to farmers free, Express Collect for any farm planting.

These trees must be ordered early and not later than the end of the year for the next springs planting.

Soil that trees are to be placed in should be well summerfallowed for one year and preferably two years in order to cut down the row cultivation necessary to young trees for quick growth.

POTATOES USEFUL LIVESTOCK FEED

While potatoes normally are not grown as livestock feed, each year there is a considerable tonnage of small and off-grade (and occasionally surplus) potatoes that can be disposed of profitably through livestock. However, if good results are to be expected care must be exercised in feeding them. Potatoes stored under favourable conditions can be fed raw to cattle and sheep but should be sliced or pulverized before feeding to avoid any damage of choking. For pigs the potatoes should be cooked. If the potatoes have sprouted, the sprouts should be knocked off before feeding as they are often poisonous to livestock. Sunburned, frozen, or decayed potatoes should be not be fed to any livestock.

Potatoes are about 80 per cent moisture, and low in protein and essential minerals. Frank Whiting of the Dominion Experimental Station, Lethbridge, Alta., reports they should be fed in conjunction with high quality feeds like legume hay and grain or protein mineral supplements added to the ration. Fattening cattle or milking cows should not be fed more than 30 pounds per head daily while lambs and breeding ewes should not be fed more than two or three pounds per head daily depending upon the size of the pig. If more than these quantities are fed, severe scouring may result.

Experiments were carried out at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lethbridge, during the past winter to determine the comparative feeding value of potatoes when fed to milking cows and to fattening lambs. Groups of lambs and milking cows that were fed potatoes in conjunction with alfalfa hay and grain were compared to similar groups of lambs and milking cows that received only alfalfa hay and grain. The cows were fed 30 lbs. of potatoes per head daily while the lambs received one to two pounds per head daily. The results of these experiments showed that between four to five pounds of potatoes were equivalent to one pound of grain. Some off-flavours were detected in the milk from the cows fed potatoes, even though the potatoes were fed after milking. Apart from this the potatoes proved to be a satisfactory feed.

MACHINERY CARE CUTS COSTS

Binders and combines will soon be laid aside for another ten months. Unless precautions are taken now, this period of idleness can depreciate the value of the machinery much more than the short season of operation just completed. The following suggestions on storage care of binders and combines are offered by C. A. Cheshire, Extension Agricultural Engineer, Alberta Department of Agriculture. They should be taken as a guide only, says Mr. Cheshire, and should not be regarded as a complete list of operations:

Remove all canvases, scrape them clean, repair broken or cracked slats. Store in a dry cool place, away from mice.

Remove, scrape and wash all V-belts. Store in a dry, dark place.

Coat all shiny surfaces of V-pulleys and sprockets with a heavy oil or light grease.

Remove the knife, clean and smear on grease. Clean and grease the ledger plates and wear plates on the guards.

Clean dirt off the machine completely. Oil or grease all bearings and wearing surfaces as you go along.

Put a coat of paint on all flat parts of the machine where it has worn off during the cutting season (e.g. the underside of the table, both dividers, the deck, and reel bats).

Jack the machine up off the wheels. If it is being left outside take off rubber tired wheels and store them inflated, in a cool dark place.

Take some of the tension off assist springs either by blocking up the parts they hold, or by lengthening their anchor setting.

Make a complete list of all broken, worn or damaged parts, advises Mr. Cheshire—you cannot remember them until next fall. Better still, replace all defective parts, and know now that your machinery is being put away in good order.

PREPARING SEED FOR EXHIBITION

Farmers who plan to exhibit seed grain at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, or the International Hay and Grain Show, Chicago, should be taking steps now to ensure suitable material. Where threshing is not already done this will mean covering stooks to avoid weathering or hanging them, heads down, in a well aired shed or other building to cure.

J. E. Birdsall, Supervisor of Crop Improvement, Alberta Department of Agriculture, says that oats and wheat may be threshed with a threshing machine if properly handled. Unless the grain is very dry little damage will result. Reducing the speed of the machine and removing concaves, will reduce damage. If threshing with a combine, the rub-bar cylinder is less likely to damage kernels than the tooth type. Hand threshing by the use of a flail or by rubbing out on canvas stretched over a wooden frame is also satisfactory. A wooden block covered with a piece of corrugated rubber does an effective job of rubbing. For best results barley should be threshed by hand. Hulls are easily damaged if a regular thresher is used and samples so damaged are not satisfactory for exhibition purposes.

No matter how carefully material has been selected, cured and threshed, a good deal of work is still necessary in order to have a well-graded, uniform sample, says Mr. Birdsall. The necessary steps are outlined in a mimeograph entitled, "The Preparation of Seed for Exhibition". Copies may be obtained on request from the Field Crops Branch, Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, or from District Agriculturists.

DROPLET INFECTIONS

Infections such as colds, coughs and influenza as well as some fevers are spread by droplet infection—that is to say by the minute particles coughed or sneezed into the air which your neighbor breathes. It is, therefore, a matter not only of courtesy but a matter of hygiene to use a handkerchief to prevent the spread of infection — particularly in crowded rooms busses or trains. Good general health is one of the best ways of preventing colds. And good nutrition is one of the best ways of maintaining good health.

NEWS NOTES from your Dist. Home Economist

Sheila M. Forrest, Ryley

Hello Homemakers:

Last week we discussed the purchasing of Refrigerators. Now that we have the one and only suitable for our needs, even if it is imaginary, a few tips on the care of refrigerators might be in order -- if you don't have one now put these away for future reference.

The most essential item in care is regular defrosting. Frost should never be allowed to build up more than 1-4 of an inch, or it forms an insulating blanket which makes the motor run often and may cause the temperature inside to rise so high that food spoils.

There are 2 methods of defrosting:

1. Move indicator to defrost, remove contents from freezer, including the ice trays. Rinse the trays with clear water, other methods of cleaning may injure the metal finish. When the freezer is entirely free of frost and ice return temperature control to normal setting.

2. You may get a quicker job by removing everything from the refrigerator and turn control indicator to "off". Leave the door open and let the heat of the room do the rest. For an occasional quick job you may place a pan of hot water inside the freezer. Continued use of hot water may damage the finish of the trays and is not recommended.

To clean the outside of your refrigerator and any other porcelain or enamel surface in your home use a soft brush with soap and non-scratchy cleaner. Whiting mixed with kerosene added to a heavy soap jelly made of 1-4 cups soap flakes and 1 cup of water will provide an excellent, safe cleaning compound for all enamel surfaces (Use 2 tbsp. whiting and 1 tbsp. kerosene)

Rust stains may need mild acid like lemon juice or vinegar. Never use a strong acid which would waken the glaze.

Cleaning the inside -- wipe with a solution of 2 tablespoons soda to 1 qt. of warm water. This should keep the interior sweet and clean. If you have an ice refrigerator give special attention to the drain pipe. If there is a glass trap at the top of the pipe it should be removed and cleaned when soil shows on it. The pipe should be flushed frequently with water. Scrub the drain pan with the same soda solution.

When opening your refrigerator door keep your hands off the rubber gasket because the natural oil on your skin causes the rubber to deteriorate. Dust the gasket with talcum powder 2 or 3 times a year. Wash with clear water frequently not with soapy water because the soap aids in the deterioration of the rubber also.

TREND IS UPWARD IN HOG MARKETING

The upward trend in Canadian hog marketings, noticeable in July, became more marked in August, the first month to show an increase over last year. Marketings in August were 7.4 per cent above marketings in August, 1948, while in July they were 6 per cent below (in June, 17 per cent) the same months of 1948.

The August marketings in Eastern Canada—21.9 per cent higher than in August, 1948,—accounted for the increase, as Western Canada, although showing an upward trend, was still 19.7 per cent below last year. Comparable figures for the month of July showed Eastern Canada up 10 per cent and Western Canada down 28.5 per cent from July 1948.

While the West as a whole was down nearly 20 per cent from August, 1948, the province of Manitoba had an increase of 10 per cent. Quebec continued to hold the spotlight in the East with 33.6 per cent increase over August last year and Ontario and the Maritimes were each up around 17 per cent.

Nearly 74 per cent of the August marketings were from Eastern Canada.

LET THE BEES CLEAN THE SUPERS

How to clean supers of combs that have been extracted is suggested by W. G. leMaistre, Provincial Apiarist. They have quite a little honey still on them and should not be stored away in this condition unless it is unavoidable. To do so is not only wasteful, but the honey on the combs will granulate and cause the new crop next year to granulate quickly.

Since bees will rob when the honey flow ends, advantage can be taken of this habit by having the bees rob the honey from these combs and store it in their hives. They will clean all the honey off the combs and leave them in good condition for storing and using next season. To get the bees to rob, the combs should be properly spaced in the supers. Otherwise the bees will tear a great deal of the comb away in their frenzy to get every speck of honey.

The supers should not be just set out for the bees to rob, says Mr. leMaistre. This gets the colonies fighting and is a sure way to spread disease among them. If a board or cloth with a hole in it is placed over the colony and the supers then piled up, the bees will go into them, clean out the combs, and bring the honey down through the hole to their hive. This works best if the super immediately above the board with the hole in it has only six or seven combs. The combs should be spaced wide apart. Unless this is done, the bees sometimes settle in the super instead of carrying all the honey down. Colonies will continue to clean supers in this way until the weather becomes cool and their activities are much reduced.

Once the supers are cleaned they should be stored away carefully to prevent mice from making nests in them. That means no cracks between them, and a tight fitting top and bottom. Mouse poison may be used in safe places here and there in the storage.

BRUSHING THE TEETH

Decay in teeth is, in part at least, caused by clinging particles of food which need frequent brushing away. The toothbrush should be moved up and down, not only across the teeth, and inside surfaces should not be forgotten. A visit to the dentist once every six months will save a lot of trouble later on. A baby's first teeth are important. Failure to take care of them may cause the permanent teeth to be crowded or irregular.

SEVEN BAPTISTS IN QUEBEC JAIL

REV. LORNE HERON
—Central Press Canadian

Seven Baptist preachers, two of them women, are in jail at Val d'Or, Que. Five have been sentenced to jail terms for obstructing street traffic, while two are awaiting trial on similar charges. They were arrested while preaching in French on street corners. Pastor Lorne Heron was sentenced to 14 days in jail. Rev. W. J. Wellington a few days later held a street corner meeting, and, like Heron, refused to pay a fine, said he would serve jail sentence along with Heron.

FARM NOTES FROM ABROAD

Polish Meat

In prewar years, the United States meat imports from Poland were of considerable importance. The 1937-39 annual average imports of ham and bacon were about 50,000,000 pounds and almost 2,000,000 pounds of canned ham.

Polish sources believe that about 6,000,000 pounds of canned ham could be shipped from Poland to the United States during the last half of 1949.

Argentine Prices

Meat consumption of the city of Buenos Aires accounts for 50 per cent of all Argentine consumption. When the consumer subsidy was removed in July, retail prices advanced sharply, as much as 30 per cent for some cuts. On August 6, ceiling prices were imposed on retail sales in the city at prices about equivalent to those during the subsidy-free period and Buenos Aires consumers face prices about half as much again as they paid last year.

The Argentine Ministry of Economics has published a new schedule of minimum prices to be paid to cattle producers, retroactive to April 1. For top grade sides the new prices are 38.6 per cent higher than in the previous schedule, designed to encourage high quality and larger meat production for both domestic and export markets.

363 REASONS TO BE PROUD

—Central Press Canadian

World record-breaking achievement is claimed for this white leghorn hen in laying 363 eggs in 365 days. Donald McG. Shaver, of Galt, Ont., who raised the record-breaker, looks as proud as the hen on her achievement.

FORESTS MOVE IN TO COVER TRACES OF STRIP MINING

ZANESVILLE, O.—In the central United States, mining and forestry are married. Agriculture is the mother-in-law.

New forests are being nurtured on the unsightly hills thrown up by the giant cranes strip-mining in Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas.

About 110,000 acres of land in the area have already been stripped in the same way coal is mined in southern Alberta and Saskatchewan. It is estimated about 1,000,000 acres will eventually be stripped for coal in the central states.

Strip-mining raises a big land use problem: what is to be done with the area after the coal is removed. It is largely unsuitable for agriculture. And the huge, bare heaps of earth are an eyesore.

The mining companies are finding an answer with the help of the United States forestry department. They are planting new forests, stocking them with fur-bearing animals in a few cases; forming man-made lakes from the abandoned pits to make recreational areas.

Some of the new forests already are providing lumber which the companies can use in their mining operations. Ohio, originally 90 per cent forest land and now only 15 per cent, is looking forward to the day when it can cut down its lumber imports by using the new growth.

Scientists See Area

These efforts to make use of formerly abandoned land were shown to a group of scientists and administrators from 41 countries including Canada, visiting conservation projects on a tour of the eastern United States.

The visitors had just completed the United Nations conference on the conservation and utilization of resources. They saw practical application of some of the ideas they had been discussing for three weeks.

The group visited the strip mine of the Ohio Power Company, seven miles southwest of Zanesville. There they watched a giant crane scooping up 13 cubic yards of earth in each gulp to get at the five-foot layer of coal which lay about 40 feet under the original surface of the ground.

Nearby they were taken through an area of the mine where all the available coal had been removed and 'spoil' heaps had been planted three years ago with a variety of trees: black locust, pine and tulip poplar. Some of the trees already were 20 feet in height and the ground under them was covered with a soft layer of leaves and undergrowth.

Officials told the visitors that in one Ohio area, on a strip-mine section forested some 20 years ago, the owner was netting about $300 a year from fur-bearing animals he had introduced there.

WEED FLAVOURS IN MILK AND CREAM

Stubble fields are providing a considerable amount of good pasture this fall as a result of late rains and second growth. There is however, always danger of tainted milk and cream due to weed flavours, warns D. H. McCallum, Dairy Commissioner, Alberta Department of Agriculture. If the cows are consuming green plants of stinkweed or other strong flavoured weeds, they should be removed from the field at least three hours before milking. Weed seeds and screenings from threshing separator settings should be removed from fields used for pasture before the cows are allowed in the field.

By the senses of taste and smell, weed tainted milk can be detected at the time of milking. This milk can then be fed to livestock on the farm and the loss avoided that would occur if such milk were mixed with untainted milk from other cows. In a similar way, the cream from each separation should be checked before adding to the shipping can. Often, only the cream from the night's milking will be tainted, and if that is marketed in a separate can good grades can be secured on the remainder of the cream.

LLOYDMINSTER OIL PRODUCTION UP 10,000 BARRELS

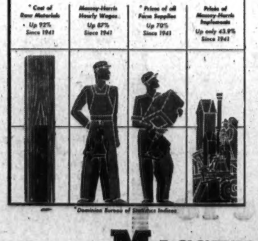

Oil production from the Lloydminster Field for the first half of September was approximately 69,000 barrels, an increase of some 10,000 barrels over the same period last month. Deliveries over the Sampson Loading Rack at Blackfoot to Imperial Oil at Regina have been particularly good, and have averaged well over 1,000 barrels per day. Deliveries are now being made over the Lone Rock Loading Rack to Hi-Way Refinery, Saskatoon; and it is expected that deliveries will start to the Moose Jaw Refinery within the next few days.

Franco Oils Limited have announced plans to erect a cleaning plant at Lone Rock, to be completed sometime this fall. The plant will have the capacity of from 1,500 to 2,000 barrels per day, and will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 to $75,000. A location for the plant is now being selected.

Three wells have been completed in the Field in the past week. M. and S. No. 1 was completed on September 11, at a depth of 1880 feet. Cavalcade No. 1 was completed on September 17th, at a depth of 1861 feet. Casing has been set in both wells and commercial production is expected. These two wells were drilled by Lloydminster Petroleum Drillers, and are both situated in the Dulwich area, some six miles south east of Lloydminster. A wild cat well, some three miles south of the Balckfoot Field, was completed on September 20th by Shaw Petroleums. This well was abandoned at a depth of 2150 feet, as no commercial oil or gas was encountered. —Lloydminster Times have farm implement prices been so low in comparison with prices of other supplies the farmer buys

On the average, supplies which farmers must buy to carry on their business, have gone up 70.1% in price since 1941. In the same period, Massey-Harris prices for Canadian-made farm implements have gone up only 43.9% ... not much more than half the average rise.

Massey-Harris has held down its prices in the face of a 92.6% increase in cost of raw materials, and an increase of 87% in the average hourly wage rate to its employees.

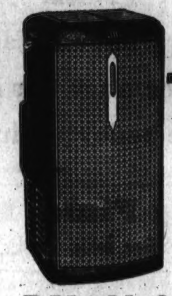

Demand has been keen in all parts of the world, and Massey-Harris factories have been working at top capacity. High volume has spread the overhead costs over more machines, and enabled the Company to absorb part of the increased cost of material and labor.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS
by Don Graham

More than one man has said to me, in effect: "I've got a good job. My home life is satisfactory. And I'm probably as happy as the average man. But I still feel that my life is too hum-drum."

Such remarks usually prompt me to suggest a remedy frequently advised by psychologists. That is: "Lose yourself in a worthy cause—especially one that involves working with groups of people."

This gives one the deep inner satisfaction of helping to accomplish something of value to others—whether it be for the church, Red Cross, municipal affairs, charities, home and school association or other worthwhile organizations. And it adds a new dimension to one's outlook, making life richer and more purposeful.

Among the people who are most active in community affairs you will invariably find one or more life insurance agents.

This kind of activity comes naturally to the life insurance agent because he is used to helping other people. And his job—making it possible for many people to face the future with a sense of security—is itself a vital contribution to the welfare and happiness of his community.

The Chauvin Home and School met in the new School on Thursday, Sept. 22nd.

The president, Mrs. J. M. Saville, opened the meeting by reading the "Outline of the Home and School". Then she introduced Superintendent Mr. Simonson, who in turn introduced the teaching staff to the parents.

The following officers were elected: President—Mrs. Wm Spence
Vice President—Mrs. W. R. Harris
Sec. Treas.—Mrs. C. V. Cranston
Programme Committee—Mr. McCrimmon, Mrs. Johnston, Mr. D. R. Saul.
Lunch Committee—Mrs. D. H. Folkins, Mrs. E. A. Pitman Jr., Mrs. L. Stone, Mrs. E. Nysetvold.

During the discussion about membership which followed, Mr. Simonson pointed out many things which our organization could buy such as a bed for sick pupils, a radio, projector, chairs for auditorium, play ground equipment, school zone signs and help with school lunches, etc. The membership was set at 50 cents each.

Then the Superintendent introduced our guests of the evening: Miss Lewis, Provincial Nutritionist, Miss Forest, District Home Economist, Miss Tweed le, District Health Nurse and Mrs. Simonson.

Miss Lewis spoke on School Lunches. She pointed out that everybody in the community should be interested and should understand the school lunch programme. A committee should be appointed which should include the principal, and whose duties would include securing money, planninh how food could be produced, canned, etc., and also keep the public informed. She suggested that the children should take part in such a programme by planning, serving, dish washing, menu typing. Menus should be simple, but serve an adequate diet without too much daily repetition.

In such a programme the District Home Economist and Health Nurse could act as an advisory board.

The Fourth Wednesday of the month was set for our monthly meetings. A delicious lunch was served by teachers and executive.

Paradise Valley United Church Notes

The summer work of the Paradise Valley and Mirachin Churches finished Sept. 25th with Thanksgiving church have been quite active during the summer and contributed substantially to the progress of the church in the community. The response to the challenge of the Church on the whole has been wholesome and we are grateful.

The Y.P.U. lectures and discussions on Christian standards of Boy and Girl Relationships, sex education and development of personality culminated in the planning of a fine social evening as a farewell to the Repka family on Wednesday evening.

Many of the trail rangers have earned the Pathfinder Degree and several Proficiency Badges this summer. Friday evening they were hosts to the Student and his family at a Theatre Party to "My Wild Irish Rose". (Congratulations on a fine "up-ner" Mr. and Mrs. Risk) followed by a lunch in the church basement.

The girls Choir at P.V., and Sunday School Choir at McLaughlin have been faithful at practise and greatly improved the atmosphere of worship at services.

The P.V. Sunday School held their Rally Day on the 18th with all the children taking part in the program. The offering of $9.59 was given to the M. and M. Fund. Forty-seven children are enrolled and a "Cradle Roll" department was introduced Sunday for those wee ones below Sunday School age.

The W.A. has financed the insulation of the Church basement and the new platform in the front of the Church. The work was made possible by donations of labor by the members of the congregation. Following meetings of the P.V. board another program has been embarked upon for further improvement of the church property. The cemetery committee has placed an order for trees to be used in the program to beautify the cemetery.

Rev. E. N. Morrison, supervising pastor was guest speaker Sept. 18th. He held communion services, baptized two babies and received seventeen new members to full communion in the two churches. We greatly appreciate the time Mr. Morrison has taken and the kind interest he has always shown in the life of our Churches.

The Student and family thank you all for your interest and support, also for your devotion to the work in the community. We wish lifes richest blessing to you all and offer this one reminder. When Peter was curious and inquisitive about his future and that of another, Christs stern admonition to him was in substance, "What does the future concern you, FOLLOW ME."

CLIFFE

A number of young people gathered at the old Mill farm on Tuesday for a farewell party in honor of some six ardent students who were leaving that night on the midnight train via Artland. The evening was much enjoyed in contests, games and singing, not to mention the good eats which are popular with the Graham Clan. The following are the names of the ones that left for P.B.I., Bud McKague, Donald Graham, Dnulla Strickert, Ruthie Johnson, Johnny Johnson, Shirley Graham. This being Shirley's first year away form home we hope she won't miss her ma's apple pies too much.

These young people will be missed among their friends and we wish them continued success in their new venture.

The potatoes this year are only big enough for chicken coops if hollowed out, better luck next year—I hope.

The Ladies held their usual meeting at Mrs. Nissons. It was decided to hold a sale of work on October 13. The sale will be at Bill Lincolns who kindly placed a room at their disposal. A County Fair will be held sometime early in November, come and take a chance. Mrs. L. Ward gave an interesting report on her week in Vermilion during the Farm Week. Mrs. W. Adams will give her report next meeting, which will be held at Mrs. L. Ward's on October 5th. All ladies welcome, husbands may be parked outside Better still, don't bring them. As everyone knows the Mrs. is a very systematic woman. She works on the theory that you can find whatever you want when you don't want it by looking where it wouldn't be if you did want it.

Oil should be flowing through the Edmonton-Regina line by the fall of 1950 and to the Great Lakes at Superior, Wis., by early in 1951, Dr. O. B. Hopkins, president of Inter-provincial Pipe Line Co. said today following hearing of the company's application for a Regina-Gretna extension by the Board of Transport Commissioners in Ottawa. The application has been approved subject to granting of a license to export crude oil by the department of trade and commerce.

Inter-provincial received the board's approval June 10th to construct a 450-mile line from Edmonton to Regina. The Regina-Gretna extension is 340 miles. No permit is required to proceed with the final 360 miles from Gretna to Superior.

Dr. Hopkins said the choice of the American route for the final section of the line was indicated by the substantially lower cost than would have been possible over any Canadian route. The distance to the American lakehead is shorter and the country is generally flat, without rocks, and an almost straight line can be followed. Much of the terrain between Winnipeg and the Canadian lakehead is rugged, broken and covered with bare rock, studded with lakes and muskeg. The physical difficulties & cost of building a pipe-line through such territory would make it impracticable.

From Edmonton to Regina the line will be of 20-inch pipe; from Regina to Gretna of 16-inch, and from Gretna to the lakes 18-inch pipe. Dr. Hopkins said. Orders for the purchase of pipe for the entire line have been placed and all deliveries should be completed by the third quarter of 1950. About 177,000 tons of steel will be required.

Initial capacity of the line from Edmonton to Regina will be 95,000 barrels of crude oil a day; east of Regina it will be 70,000 barrels a day. Addition al pumping stations can be added as required to increase the capacity of the line.

Survey work on more than 400 miles of the line has already been completed. Actual construction is expected to employ between 1,000 and 1,500 men for about 150 days and work will probably be in progress at as many as 10 different locations along the line at the same time. Contractor's equipment involved at each point will probably be worth about $500,000.

Terminal facilities at Superior will include loading docks for lake tankers and it is expected that some 67,000 barrels a day will be shipped by tanker to Canadian refineries. As navigation on the Great Lakes is closed for about five months of the year, storage capacity for at less 1,000,000 barrels will be constructed at Superior which will permit the steady accumulation of oil during the closed season.

Cost of constructing the line has been estimated at $85 millions. An additional $5 millions will be required as working capital, bringing the total projected cost to $90 millions.

UNNECESSARY DEATHS

Last year 85 Canadians who had failed to protect themselves by immunization died from diphtheria. None of these deaths was necessary. Diphtheria toxoid, available free of charge at any public health clinic, provides almost 100 per cent effective protection against this disease. Children are especially vulnerable to diphtheria. Don't endanger your family through carelessness. Immunization is about as painful as a mosquito bite, but it may save your life.

Report to the People

With the noise and unnecessary fuss of the recent election of June 27th all faded away, the first Session of the 21st Parliament got under way at 3 o'clock on Thursday last, the 15th instant. The weatherman was on his very best behaviour for the Opening ceremonies and some preliminaries took place at 12 o'clock noon, at which time the Speaker of the House was elected. This responsibility fell upon the Honourable W. R. MacDonald, Member for Brantford City and Deputy Speaker during the last Parliament. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the Governor-General, Lord Alexander and Lady arrived at the main entrance and were greeted by the Prime Minister, the Right-Honourable Louis St. Laurent, and, being preceded by a number of high officials of the different branches of the services, the R.C.M.P. and others, proceeded to the Senate Chamber where the Speech from the Throne was read by Lord Alexander. Prior to the reading of the Speech from the Throne Members of the House of Commons had been summoned by the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod and attended at the Bar of the Senate Chamber. The Speech from the Throne was particularly short, but at the same time gave notice of far reaching changes that will take place in the very near future.

Notice was given that the Government will introduce a bill at the current session to make the Supreme Court of Canada the final Court of Appeal, eliminating appeals to the Privy Council. Parliament will also be asked to approve measures to give Canada the right to amend her constitution without necessity of approval of the Privy Council. These two measures are very far reaching in effect and will continue progress that has already been commenced in setting up Canada as an independent nation and make her more and more independent of the British Crown. The Government will also arrange early consultations with the provincial governments with a view to reaching agreement on appropriate procedure for amending the constitution along certain lines.

A resolution also will be introduced which will broaden the National Housing Act in line with results of recent discussions with the provinces. Provision is also made for the continuation of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation as a Crown Company and a bill will be introduced renewing the Reconstruction Department's responsibility for this corporation. Another measure forecast in this speech is one to consolidate legislation respecting the defence forces and the Defence Department. In this connection it is intimated that the very best will be made available for the services in the defence of our country.

The long heralded Trans-Continental Highway is also mentioned and Parliament will be asked to approve a measure to enable the Government to assist in the construction of the highway. Other measures forecast in the speech will include a bill respecting the National Trade Mark and True Labelling; a bill respecting Forest Conservation; a bill to incorporate the Canadian Overseas Telecommunication Corporation; a bill respecting assistance to the Shipbuilding Industry and Merchant Shipping; a bill to extend the life of the Export and Import Permits Act; also bills to amend the Exchequer Courts Act; the Industrial Developments Bank Act; the Emergency Gold Mine Assistance Act; the Prairie Farm Assistance Act; the Customs Act and the Veterans Land Act of 1942. While these bills have been mentioned, it does not in any way limit the right of the Government to introduce further measures if and when found necessary to do so and it is expected that the Session will last at least until the early part of December.

While all of the legislation mentioned is of national importance, there is one piece of particular interest to the working people of this country and that is the legislation dealing with housing. Up to the present time a greater number of houses have been built in Canada this year than in preceding years, but there is still a continual demand for housing by many people who cannot afford to make the necessary down payment under present legislation and steps should be taken, in my opinion, by the Government at a very early date to make it possible for people to purchase homes with a smaller down payment and the rate of interest should also be reduced. In connection with housing also, past experience has shown that because of lack of inspection or inefficient inspection, many defects enter into the building of homes under the Government sponsored schemes and while this service is paid for by the prospective home owner, there is no reason why proper supervision and inspection at all times should not be exercised. The case of the Bow River Construction Company in Calgary will bear out what I have stated.

There is another matter also that should be taken into consideration in the interests of prospective purchasers and that is in the case where a purchaser enters into an agreement to purchase a house makes a down payment and continues to keep up the annual payments over a period of years, but because of some circumstance over which he has no control he is unable to complete his agreement, provision should be made that if he is turned out of the house, he will be protected to the extent of his equity in the agreement. This is of particular interest because at the present time building costs are at such a high level and earnings also a peak or near peak. Circumstances before these homes are completely paid for may bring about an entirely different picture and to prevent a repetition of the happenings which occurred during the depression of the early 30's steps should be taken now while there is still time to prevent recurrence of those injustices.

As space will not permit further comment, I hope to deal with matters of interest in my next report.

ROBERT FAIR.

Mrs. Nichols, who has lived in the same house for 73 years, can read and crochet without glasses and likes to listen to "thrillers" on the radio.

The best advice is—don't give any. Concerning two things, advise no one: marrying and going to wars.

Mrs. Hagglund who has a summer resort business at Waterton Lakes will instruct in Sewing. Miss Engberg, whose home is at Calmar will be in charge of instruction in Cooking and Nutrition.

Talked about for the last couple of years, the 70-game schedule in the National Hockey League has arrived.

When the league governors approved the lengthened 1949-50 schedule at a meeting in Montreal recently, it was a surprise to no one. It had been coming ever since professional hockey rose to its commanding position as Canada's top sports drawing card.

And although various sports—such as hockey, baseball and football—already infringe to such an extent on each other's season, none can blame the governors for extending the season an extra 10 games from the previous 60.

The extra 10 games each team will play means the N.H.L. season starts earlier than ever before, opening Oct. 12 and closing March 26, the same times as the previous latest in the 1926-27 season under a 40-game schedule. This year's play covers 24 weeks as compared with 20 last year.

When the idea of extending the schedule was first mentioned, the kickbacks were many. People asked if the season wasn't long enough already. They didn't want to make a choice between attending a baseball game, a rugby game or a hockey game on the same day. And weren't the N.H.L. clubs making enough money as it was?

There are many opinions and many answers to these objections. One might be called basic good business.

When a business is running at top selling peak no owner tries to slow it down. Instead he builds and adds more room to accommodate that business and more.

It's the same with N.H.L. hockey which now certainly is big business. In most N.H.L. cities there are long waiting lists of subscribers willing to pay for seats to every home game of their team. Besides that there are long line-ups every game to grab any available seat.

A Help To Fans

The hockey arenas can nowhere—with the possible exception of New York where the following isn't so fans wanting to attend. So the extra 10 games give that much more chance to get a ticket. It also means more money for the N.H.L.

Another probable factor in lengthening the season is operating expense. Transportation, hotel accommodation, equipment and salaries have all risen noticeably in cost. Skates alone have practically doubled in price. This means clubs are paying out more and making less profit.

A way of overcoming that would be to increase the price of tickets, but the howl from the patrons would be terrific. Now the 10 extra games will help take care of the increased expense.

Another innovation brought in—and a good one from a team's standpoint

SLEEP FOR HEALTH

Many young people are inclined to think of sleep as time wasted. Actually sleep is necessary for the repairing and rebuilding of the body cells. Sleep is also the only time when the mind is at rest for, the minute we awake, whether we remain resting or not, our minds are immediately plunged into activity. Almost everyone needs eight hours sleep a day to remain happy and healthy. Remember, sleep combats fatigue and is essential to good health. Take all you need.

SPORTS CAMERA

—is the system whereby a team often stays over in a city to play the same club after a space of one or more nights. The advantage here is that many tiring train rides will be done away with. This occurs six times for each club.

Another important and interesting aspect to Canadians about the schedule is that the two Canadian teams, the Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs, and the Montreal Canadiens, still have Saturday as their chief playing night. So when hockey fans in the west or in non-league eastern points tune in their radios it will still be "hockey night in Canada."

THE SUNSHINE VITAMIN

An adequate amount of vitamin D in a child's diet is necessary to prevent rickets and to build strong, healthy bones and teeth. Vitamin D is not found in sufficient quantities in regular diet, nor can enough of it be absorbed from the sun. Every child needs extra vitamin D in the form of liquids, capsules or other preparations throughout the growing years.
